

March 2011: A Vision for Knowledge

Change of Plan

I had other plans of what to send to you today about Module A, but when I opened this "Vision for Knowledge" (see below) from the Intenders of the Highest Good in my email box this morning, I knew this gift was what I was to share with you today. I've bolded my favorite parts.

A Vision for Knowledge

"We see a world where access to information of any kind is available to all; where those who read in order to learn are freely given access to any book, magazine or printed material that will further their growth; and where those who have transcended reading and who are able to intuit or pull knowledge directly from the Universe are encouraged to do so.

Consequently, we access information directly from the Universe; where our power to know the past - and thus know how the true history of any given event unfolded - is available to all. Likewise, we see a world where our psychic and intuitive powers are enhanced to the point where we can simply put a book under our pillow or by our bedside at night, and we awaken in the morning having gleaned the precise information we needed to gather from it.

In the same manner, we see ourselves ultimately living in a world where we have found a place in our minds where we can visit with our "personal librarian" whom we can call upon at any time for the purpose of gaining the knowledge we need to move forward in life. We see each and every person intimately connected with their angelic librarian and, as a result, all things needing to be revealed at any time are revealed. No longer are we, the people, deceived in any way. No longer are our great inventions and creation hidden from us. And no longer are we kept in the dark for lack of knowledge.

Clearly the new paradigm is one where we have left our secrets behind and stepped into a dimension where access to any kind of information is available to anyone who seeks it. The wool is lifted from our eyes, as we have entered into the light where all is seen and all is known."

Your Personal Invitation

The above "Vision of Knowledge" is also my vision for all we do with our Akashic Trainings. I believe those of us who can access our Akashic Records are living this Vision now and the Akashic Alliance supports one of these schools of learning. Might this be your vision too?

I hope you'll join us in the Akashic Records through one of our Akashic Trainings whenever it is for your highest good.

Radiance and Love, Till Next Time . . .
